ABOUT TOWN MATTERS IN ARLINGTON.

All notices of concerts, lectures, entertainments, etc. to which an admission fee is charged or from which a revenue is to be derived, must be paid for by the line at the regular advertising rates.

—The Senior social takes place this (Friday) evening, in High School Hall.

—The Arlington Heights Tennis club will give a dance in Town Hall, Feb. 21st. There will be excellent music.

—Freeman Long has been elected captain of the High school football team for next year.

—Arlington Board of Trade hold an important meeting this Friday evening in their new home on Court street.

—Miss Homer opens a dancing class, for ladies only, next week in Odd Fellows Hall, Associates' Building.

—The superintendent of our schools, Mr. Minard, is, with his wife, making his home this winter at 122 Pleasant street.

—The wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Spooner will take place this Friday evening at their home 47 Bartlett avenue.

—The pupils' recitals advertised by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Ellen for January 22d and January 29th will be given one week later, on January 29th and February 5th.

—A Philathea Bible class was started last Sunday morning at the First Baptist church, with Miss Alice M. Teale, the Sunday school visitor, as the teacher and leader.

—Dean N. R. Wood has been made chairman of the continuation committee of the Sunday campaign which closed in Boston last Sunday with such phenomenal success.

—Mr. R. Walter Hilliard has announced his candidacy for the Board of Assessors of Arlington. Mr. Hilliard is a long-time resident of this town and resides at 25 Norfolk road.

—Frank E. Owen and Ralph E. Brown have taken over the Regent Theatre and propose to run the very best pictures that can be obtained, as will be seen by the advertisement this week.

—Miss Alice W. Honer announces a dance to be given by her in the Town Hall, Wednesday evening, Feb. 7th, 1917. Tickets may be purchased of her at 143 Pleasant street. Tel. Arlington 319-M.

—Mr. Francis Baldwin, of Worcester, has been appointed teacher of the commercial work at the Junior High school. Mrs. Tierney has been substituting in this department for a few weeks.

—Mr. A. Allen Kimball is superintending the harvesting of the Arlington & Belmont ice crop in New Hampshire. He was home last week on account of a cold contracted while away, but was able to return to his duties the first part of this week.

—The neighbors in the Wyman street section of the town have been busily engaged all through the winter months working for the wounded soldiers in the trenches. The meetings have been held each week at the different homes of the ladies interested.

—A shoe was cut from the A. B. C. team lead in Boston Pin League by the recent events, but it is still a strong contender with a lead of five in games won. Baker is still high average man with 110. The Gleasons dropped a bit and are fourth and fifth with each 100.

—Arlington Council, K. of C. held a get-together meeting in the old Town Hall, Tuesday evening, when Alex. W. Barr of New Brunswick, gave readings and there were speeches by James G. Keenan and District Deputy James M. Mead.

—At the meeting of the alumni of the Junior High school, Gerald B. Dahid was elected president. Miss Miriam Crosby vice president, John Ryan recording secretary, Miss Theresa Bining corresponding secretary, Miss Helen Leavitt treasurer, and Alvin B. Strout guard.

—Mr. Mark S. Dickey, who has been the substitute organist at the First Baptist church, for the past six or seven months, is to give an organ recital at the First Baptist church on the evening of Friday, Feb. 2nd. Mr. Dickey has been a resident of Arlington for over a year, living at Mrs. Colman's house on Pelham terrace.

—The departmental work of the Bradshaw Missionary Association has been assigned to the several chairmen as follows: Hospitality committee, Mrs. Geo. McK. Richardson; Tea committee, Miss Alice Bushnell; Reception committee, Mrs. W. K. Cook; Work, Mrs. Alfred C. Cobb; Relief committee, Mrs. N. C. Bushnell; Housekeeper, Mrs. Arthur Wood.

—Another citizen has announced his candidacy for the office of Selectman. He is Edward T. Ryan of Gardner street. We believe there are now four seeking the one place to be filled on the Board of Selectmen. Besides Mr. Ryan there is Thomas J. Donnelly, the present incumbent, who will seek re-election, Alexander A. Jardine, of the Heights and Augustus F. Crowley of Medford street.

—Arlington Woman's club will meet next Thursday afternoon, in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, at 2.45, when the program will be in charge of the Civics committee, Mrs. J. Herbert Mead, chairman. The speaker will be Miss Helen Varick Boswell and her subject: "What to-day calls for." Music will be piano selections by Madam Schildbach and tea will be served at the close of the meeting.

—The Clover Leaf-a-Hand held one of its pleasant social afternoons Monday of this week at the home of Mrs. Ralph N. Smith, of Gray street. The hostesses were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Walter D. Sawyer, Mrs. Wm. F. Honer and Mrs. A. J. Wellington. There were four tables of bridge and besides this diversion those not interested in cards brought their sewing. A tea, with delicious refreshments, were served at the close of the afternoon.

—Richmond Parkhurst is a patient at Symmes Arlington Hospital.

—Dr. F. W. Lockwood will be the preacher at the evening service at the First Baptist church, on Sunday.

—Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sawyer are for a while registered at Haddon Hall, Atlantic City, N. J. Previous to this they spent a few days in New York City.

—In the game with Winthrop club bowlers on Monday evening, the Arlington Boat club team lost, taking only one string. The totals were Winthrop 1639, A. B. C. 1619.

—At the First Parish church, on Sunday morning, the choral music will be furnished by the Tuskegee Male Quintette, who will sing negro hymns and melodies. The public is invited.

—Mrs. Wentworth Carr entertained on Wednesday afternoon, at her home on Bartlett avenue, the group of ladies who make up three tables of bridge and meet every other week at the home of the different members.

—Arlington and Belmont Ice Company has harvested about half of its ice crop on Spy pond. The ice is of fine quality and between ten and eleven inches in thickness. Work will be resumed today. The Cambridge Ice Company has also gotten in about half of its harvest.

—The Arlington-Winchester hockey game, between the High school teams of these often rival towns, was played at Winchester on the afternoon of Jan. 25, owing to the conditions on Spy pond not being favorable. The Arlington boys walked away with the event by a score of four to one.

—In the Middlesex County Odd Fellows' Bowling League series Tuesday night, on the Arlington alley, Bethel Lodge of this town dropped four points to Securi Lodge of Reading. Bruorton of the visiting team was the high single-string roller with 114, and he also took the high three-string total with 304.

—A special meeting of the East Arlington Improvement Association was held in their hall last Monday evening, when Loren W. Marsh, chairman of the Committee of Twenty-one of the town, was the guest and spoke to the members on the various duties and requirements of the committee, giving much valuable information.

—Mrs. Waterman A. Taft, in company with her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Farr, and Mr. Farr, left Wednesday of this week for the south. Mr. Taft accompanied the party over to New York and will join his family later. The party will be at Somerville, North Carolina, where is located lumber interests of Mr. Farr and where the Farris have taken a furnished house for the winter.

—The business meeting of the Unitarian Alliance will be held Monday, Jan. 29, instead of Feb. 5, which is the day of the reception to Rev. Frederic Gill, minister, who has served that church twenty-five years on that day.

—At the Trinity Baptist church, Sunday evening, at seven o'clock, there will be four short sermons by four laymen.—one a factory foreman, the other a business man, the third a division superintendent on the Boston Elevated R. R. and the fourth from a travelling salesman. There will be special music.

—The Bible study class which meets at the Universalist church on Thursday evenings, at 7.45, is affording all people an opportunity to enter into the spirit of the modern study of the Gospel of John. The pastor of the church will be very much pleased to see any persons who are interested attend this class. It is not for the members of the church alone.

—A very interesting series of four talks on "Americanization and Current Events" are to be given in Arlington by Mr. R. F. Arragon, of Harvard University. Mr. Arragon is assistant to Prof. Haskings, and has had a current events class at the Business Woman's club for two years. These talks are free and open to the public. The first will be given at Adelphi Hall, on Wednesday, Jan. 31st, at 8 p. m. Due notice of the meetings following will be given later.

—Last week some friends of Mr. Edward H. Bartlett, (we surmise at the suggestion of the genial proprietor of Arlington News Agency) procured a nice silk U. S. flag, had it mounted and framed, and sent it to Mr. Bartlett who is in a hospital at Palmer. We have a note from the family, speaking of what had transpired and closing as follows:—"This expression of the spirit of friendship and kindly thought will serve to cheer and brighten his days at the hospital." The family is warmly appreciative.

—At the annual meeting of the Arlington Associated Charities, held Thursday morning, with its president, Mrs. John H. Hardy, the following officers were unanimously elected:—President, Mrs. John H. Hardy; vice-president, Mrs. Therese B. Thomas; treasurer, Mrs. Augustus F. Crowley; secretary, Miss Helen Rolfe. Visitors, Mrs. Jas. S. Shedd, Mrs. Ernest H. Rowe, Mrs. H. Luther Sherman, Miss Esther Babson. After the business Mrs. Bert S. Currier gave a most interesting and instructive talk on "Charity and the Public."

—"Best Yet" was the verdict of the chicken pie supper served Wednesday evening, in St. John's Parish House, by the Women's Guild of that church. The menu consisted of chicken pie (family style), green peas, mashed potatoes, rolls, coffee, pies, both cake and pastry. The committee was Mrs. T. O. D. Urquhart (chairman), Mesdames Carpenter, Storm, Murden, Hoxie, Clark, Staples, Goldsmith, Carns, Bauer, Smith, Lovewell.

and Miss Davis. The waitresses wore unique bells donated from the Whiting farm, together with the butter served. They were Misses T. Lunt, Josephine Bauer and G. Miller.

—At the close of the meeting of St. Agnes' Court, Daughters of Isabella, Monday evening, in G. A. R. Hall, a whist party was held and the souvenirs for the best scores were awarded Miss May Fogarty and Mrs. Katherine Lehan Kelley. Mrs. Joseph Smith was awarded the consolation souvenir. The evening was in charge of the lecturer, Miss Frances Conner.

—Those interested in the making of comfort pillows for the wounded soldiers in the trenches are invited to meet at the home of Miss Ethel Wellington, 16 Maple street, on next Thursday morning, from 9.30 until noon. Miss Wellington and Mrs. John H. Hardy have renewed the interest in this work and will be glad of any assistance from those interested. The meeting will be held each week on Thursday morning.

—The Arlington Historical Society will meet in the vestry of the First Parish church on the evening of Tuesday, Jan. 30, at 8 o'clock. The speaker for the evening is Mrs. S. F. Bacheller, who will tell something of the story of the Vassall-Craigie House, including life of Colonel Henry Vassall and his wife Penelope Royall. Members are requested to invite friends who may be interested in the above subject.

—The seventeen couples who enjoyed a series of dancing parties last winter in Odd Fellows Hall, Associates Building, have already had one party, which was given in G. A. R. Hall. This was managed by the Eben Dewings, the Arthur Nortons, the Frank Walkers, the Gorham H. Davises and the William E. Hardys. Another party is to be given this (Friday) evening. This will be given by the Earl Ryders, Floren Marshes, Robert Beglens, Guy Sangers, Thomas R. Winchells.

—Sunday will be observed as Young People's Day in the Universalist church. In accordance with custom, the morning service will be conducted entirely by the members of the Y. P. C. U. The address will be given by Mr. Osgood L. Holt. At the evening devotional meeting, the speaker will be Mr. Stephen E. Wright of Hale House, Boston, who will speak on some phase of social service. The public is most cordially invited to attend these meetings.

—The Kensington Park Study club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. G. O. Goldsmith, of 20 Woodland street, with Thomas Hardy, the author, as the study of the afternoon. Mrs. Goldsmith gave a sketch of his life and showed how his training as an architect had been of use to him in his writings. Mrs. Charles Winner took up the subject "Why did Mr. Hardy quit novel writing?" speaking of his knowledge of nature and described some of his men and women characters and spoke of the pessimism of Mr. Hardy. Mrs. Arthur Norton, of Belmont, selected "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" as the authors best book and handled a review of the same in an intelligent and interesting manner. Discussion followed, after which tea was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be Feb. 13th, with Mrs. Wm. S. Hall of Brantwood road, the program in charge of Mrs. E. E. Bacon.

—It may be of interest to the town to know that all the surgical dressings work done in Arlington goes straight to the front with the stamp "Arlington, Mass." on each package. Thus far over 17,000 dressings have been sent since last May. All dressings go first to the Peter Bent Brigham hospital for inspection and sterilization and a letter from Mrs. S. E. Faithfull, secretary of the branches, speaks in great praise of the character of the work done by the Arlington branch and says the some of it is used as models to send to other branches. The Arlington committee makes an appeal for both additional workers and money. The meetings are every Tuesday from 10 to 12 a. m., and 2 to 4 p. m., in the vestry of the Unitarian church, the entrance to which is in the rear of the church. Please help, the need is most urgent.

—When the matter finally came to a vote by the Joint Board, the request for a direct connection of the rails of the Bay State Co. and Boston Elevated at the junction of Mass. avenue and Mystic street was officially refused. In this action the town officers have voiced the general wish of Arlington citizens. A group of people residing in the section joining Arlington would be inconvenienced by having cars run through to the Cambridge subway without the present required change at the centre railroad crossing, but the inconvenience to through travel at this most dangerous place sure to be the result of installing anything that would be a hindrance, is of paramount importance and we hope no pressure will be sufficient to remove the officers from the stand they have taken. They have simply safeguarded interests that tower high over the personal element to be pleased by having something made easier for them. There are other ways of a securing through route for Winchester cars without installing something that would block clear passage through Arlington centre.

—Most of the front half of the seats in Orthodox Congregational church were filled during several hours on Wednesday by delegates from adjoining towns, gathered at the mid-winter convention of the Middlesex County W. C. T. Union. Mrs. Warren A. Peirce, president of the local Union, gave a cordial welcome to the town and in his usual happy manner Rev. S. C. Bushnell extended greetings from his church. Business trenched upon the time set apart for addresses at the morning session, but Mrs. A. W. Wilson gave an illuminating account of her work among the sailors and marines at the Charlestown Navy Yard, which was followed by reports from department super-

Home Cookery

Vegetable Soup With Dumplings.
Take four medium potatoes and four medium onions, peel and slice into about two quarts boiling water. Take two slices of salt pork, cut into dice and fry until brown, then add to the potatoes, using the grease as well as the pork. Allow the mixture to cook about twenty minutes, adding salt and pepper to taste, also carrots or any other vegetable one likes. While the soup is cooking prepare the dumplings, taking two cups of flour, three teaspoonsful baking powder, a little salt and sweet milk to make a dough a trifle softer than for biscuit. Drop by spoonfuls in the soup and cook twenty minutes longer.

New England Mince-meat.

Four pounds lean meat (ground), one and one-half pounds suet, eight pounds chopped apples, one pound brown sugar, four pounds raisins, three pounds currants, one-half pound citron (cut fine), one quart boiled cider, four cupsful meat stock, one cupful vinegar, one pint grape juice, one pint cherry or other fruit juice, one tablespoonful salt, one tablespoonful pepper, mace, allspice, cloves, nutmeg, cinnamon. Mix above ingredients, adding spices to taste. Cook, then add the juice of two oranges, two lemons and one tablespoonful almond extract.

Tomato and Oyster Soup.

Strain a pint of stewed fresh or of canned tomatoes through a wire sieve to remove seeds. To the pulp add a pinch of soda to counteract a part of the acidity and to keep the milk from curdling. Into the hot tomatoes pour a pint and a half of hot milk. Thicken slightly, using a tablespoonful of flour moistened with water. Season with salt, pepper and a lump of butter. Lastly add a pint of scalded oysters. Canned ones answer very well for this.

Salad Dressing.

An Italian chef derides the American manner of preparing the dressing for lettuce, by which a goodly part of the oil and vinegar is left in the bottom of the dish. His method is to put the salad in the bowl and, turning the leaves with one hand, cover them slowly with oil with the other until every leaf glistens. He then seasons them with salt and pepper, adds a few drops of vinegar, gives a last stir and serves his salad at once.

Ink Spot Obliterators

Ink spots are the most troublesome of all spots to remove. Ink on white material may be removed by dipping it first in muriatic acid and then in hot water, repeating as often as necessary. Colored material should be soaked in turpentine and then washed. If the ink on rug or clothing is still wet, cover immediately with flour, starch or cornmeal, renewing as fast as the ink is soaked up. Then use lemon juice or sour milk. A solution of a cupful of water, the juice of a lemon and a teaspoonful of oxalic acid is a useful ink remover to keep in the house. The mixture should be labeled "Poison," as oxalic acid is poisonous. Ammonia will restore colors faded in removing ink. Soft water should always be used in removing stains from clothing.

EGYPTIAN SERENADE.

Sing again the song you sung
When we were together young,
When there were but you and I
Underneath the summer sky.

Sing the song and o'er and o'er,
Though I know that nevermore
Will it seem the song you sung
When we were together young.

—George William Curtis.

TITLES IN RUSSIA.

Where There Are Only Two Classes Nobles and Peasants.

Contrary to the laws existing in England and Sweden, in Russia when a lady belonging to a titled family marries a Russian gentleman without a title she takes her husband's name entirely, and the only right left to her of her former title is to write on her visiting cards and official papers "Mrs. So-and-so, born Princess, Countess or Baroness So-and-so." Her children are called by their father's name. There are only a few exceptions to this rule.

In Russia no middle class or gentry are known. There are only nobles and peasants. The czar, however, grants sometimes for special merit the right to be styled a nobleman and also for the same reason the titles of count and baron and occasionally that of prince.

All those merchants who have kept their firms always flourishing for a hundred years have the right to receive the foreign title of baron. This law was made by Peter the Great over 200 years ago, but the merchants very seldom accept this title and generally decline the privilege.

In former days when the peasants were still slaves they had no family names, but were called by their father's Christian name. Peter's son was called son of Peter—in Russian Petrov; so also Smirnov—Simon's son; Ivanov—Ivan's (John) son, and so on. When slavery was abolished and the emancipation proclaimed by the Emperor Alexander II, they all kept these names. Since then many of them have received the right to belong to the class of nobles.

The Russian clergy, belonging to the class of peasants, for it very seldom happens that nobles become priests, have special family names. Their names mean always a feast day or a precious stone or something connected with the church. In former days the clergy was a class apart, and a son of a clergyman was bound to be a clergyman, and when they first entered the church they chose a name for themselves.—London Answers.

ROCK OF GIBRALTAR.

The "Key of the Mediterranean" Has Had a Stormy History.

England has been in possession of the rocky promontory of Gibraltar since 1704. From that time to this it has been a crown colony under the administration of a governor. By reason of its important strategic position it is called the "key of the Mediterranean." Gibraltar has had a stormy history. In 711 the rock was taken by the Arab chief Tarik, who called it Jebel-al-Tarik (Hill of Tarik) and built a fortress on the promontory. Part of these ruins is still extant. In 1309 it was taken by the Castilians, only to be recaptured by the Moors in 1333. It was held by them until 1462. Following the taking and sacking of Gibraltar in 1540 by Barbarossa, extensive military works were built there by order of Charles V.

In 1704 the promontory was captured by a combined force under Sir George Rooke and the Prince of Hesse-Darmstadt, fighting for the Archduke Charles of Austria. The moment it fell into their hands the British admiral threw off the alliance with the Austrians and took complete possession of the works.

British possession since that time has been unbroken, although it was under a Spanish siege for nearly three years and eight months, beginning in 1779. Twice the garrison was on the point of falling because of the starvation of its defenders.

Line and Staff Officers.

Broadly speaking, the distinction between a line officer and a staff officer is that between the fighter and the nonfighter. The staff officer has non-military duties. He may, for example, be a member of the medical corps, an instructor at a military institute or have charge of some administrative department of the army or navy. The word is also used for those men attached to the staff of the commander in chief. A line officer is literally that; he is the man in the field or on a battleship to do the actual fighting.—New York Sun.

Where Eating Is a Trade.

"Maccheroni" eating is a trade with the street beggar of Italy and apparently a satisfying one to men and boys gifted with copper interiors immune to heat. One of the most familiar cries of the beggar is, "Signore, dame cinque soldi, mangia maccheroni!" ("Mister, gimme a nickel for macaroni!") And usually the plea ends with a lugubrious whine, "Oh, muori di fame!" ("Oh, I am dying of hunger!")—National Geographic Magazine.

Cold Calculation.

"Quality is more to be desired than quantity," said the man of artistic inclinations.

"Not always," replied the practical person. "A diamond is pure carbon, but you can't get the action from it that you can from a ton of coal."—Washington Star.

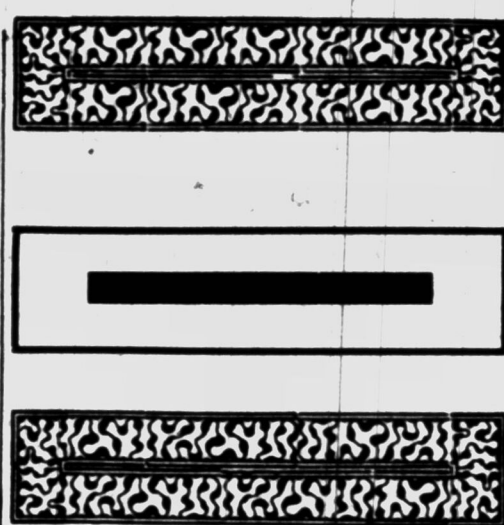

Made a Home Run.

Willis—I played golf yesterday for the first time. Gillis—How did you make out? Willis—Fine. Made a home run right at the start. I hit the first ball into the tall grass in left field and ran around the whole eighteen holes before they found it.—Puck.

A Cutting Retort.

"I wish you were more like Mr. Green. He never has any business engagements downtown at night."

"That's so. But you don't see Mrs. Green riding around town in an automobile of her own, do you?"—Detroit Free Press.

The Sunday Campaign.

Late on the evening of Sunday, Jan. 21, the lights in the great Boston Tabernacle were turned out on possibly the most highly sensational affair the metropolis has ever seen—the ten weeks of revival meetings held by Rev. William A. Sunday. In other cities surprising results have been achieved, but it remained for the Boston series of meetings to eclipse all previous records in numbers attending, people converted, contributions to meet expenses and in money turned over to the Evangelist for his personal benefit.

At several of his meetings Mr. Sunday took occasion to say he could not be responsible for future results. He did not pose as a leader of a sect, not in the slightest degree did he turn effort in favor of any denomination. It remains for the churches who have been notified of the preferences of those who have "hit the trail" to do the husbanding, garner the fruits and find for these people some place where they can work along lines that will strengthen purpose and fit them in their turn to be saviors of men.

We note the filing of a bill in the Massachusetts Legislature to abolish the poll tax. "Ought to pass" should be the unanimous endorsement of the committee to which it is to be assigned. Massachusetts is one of the not large number of states of the Union retaining this antiquated source of revenue to a city or town. Like that old-time custom of "discount for prompt payment of taxes," abolishing the poll tax will materially reduce costs to town or city, and have an important place in cutting down the tax levy on which the tax rate is determined. The poll tax is assessed on all males, whether legal voters or not, and in Boston it is a question whether or not thirty per cent of this large sum is collected, though it enters as a whole into the total in the office of the assessors. A man is no better off by taking money from one pocket and putting it in another receptacle, and this is what becomes of this seventy per cent. It is first put down as an asset; then carried to the debt column. It is really more than this, for the percentage of cost in collecting is greatly in excess of taxes on real estate and personal property.

This week President Wilson has revived with him is becoming a custom, (one, however, used by no other President since Thomas Jefferson), of making personal addresses in the U. S. Senate. This time he explained in detail his plan for securing universal peace. That the world longs for peace cannot be questioned. That the nations at war are willing to consider any proposition other than that laid down in the clear statement by the Allies, is extremely doubtful. President Wilson lost his golden opportunity to intervene in the interests of humanity when he allowed the overrunning of Belgium, in violation of the most binding treaty obligation, to pass without protest; when he wrote half dozen notes about the Lusitania horror, when only one should have been sent. We believe the Allies are fighting the battle of humanity in behalf of a larger freedom. When the adversary that made the attack is in the position of a man who in his last extremity cries out for a let-up, President Wilson would seem to be trying to hold the arm ready to deliver the knock-out blow. Whether or not this is true, the move seems to us at least untimely if not impertinent. There was a clamoring for peace during the civil war. President Lincoln said to the peace commissioners he met on the James river, "you write the Union restored as it was and then I will sign whatever else may be proposed." The wrong that had been perpetrated must be conferred and repented of. Lincoln's purpose was to make good his oath of office to preserve the Union. No compromise was possible. His offer was rejected, and the boys in blue fought the long war through. Unless Germany is defeated, not one of the things mentioned in Pres. Wilson's address can be fulfilled.

Everett C. Benton of Belmont, ex-Senator Harry N. Stearns of Cambridge, ex-Senator Wilton B. Fay of Medford and ex-Senator Claude L. Allen of Melrose compose the ticket made up by the Republican party as candidates for the Constitutional convention to assemble in June to represent the Eighth Congressional District. In addition to voting for candidates from the Congressional district, citizens of this town will vote for delegates from the state-at large and from the local senatorial and representative districts.

"Necessity is the mother of invention." The war in Europe has brought out not a few illustrations of this fact, but more important than present needs met by inventive genius has been the awakening to make provision for the future. The vast water power in section of Europe has until recently been neglected. Under pressure of finding substitutes for coal, thought has been turned toward utilizing this force so generously employed in this country. In an article in Saturday's Evening Transcript we find the following:—

"The water power of the Alps, the Pyrenees and the central mountainous region is playing a big role in the military effort of France and will have an even greater share in the after-war economic struggle. Many new hydraulic power plants, born of the war needs, are turning out shells, chemicals and other necessities for the army. Many others, born of the coal famine and its lessons, will replace steam power after the war. France utilized thirteen per cent of its total estimated natural water power in 1914. She now is utilizing more than twenty per cent and the proportion is every day increasing. Competent engineers fix at 4,600,000 horse-power the energy France could secure from its waterfalls at low water, while 9,800,000 horse-power is the estimate for average seasons. Electric energy for Paris brought from the Alps is the most ambitious project for the future. A dam seventy-five yards high in the Rhone at Genesiat, backing the water up fourteen miles to the Swiss frontier, will furnish a fall sufficient to operate a power station of 335,000 horsepower and 240,000 kilowatts. The energy is to be transported to Paris in the form of an alternating current under a tension of 120,000 volts. The line of transmission will be 312 miles long. This enterprise would alone economize 1,800,000 tons of the twenty million tons of coal France imported annually before the war. Engineers figure that current brought from the Swiss frontier may be sold with sufficient profit in Paris at three times a kilowatt hour; an economy of about fifty per cent on the cost of current produced by steam before the war."

People's Institute.

Friday evening, Jan. 26, in the Orthodox Congregational church in Arlington, occurs the last of a series of meetings under the title of "People's Institute," that deserved an attendance equalling that of the past ten weeks in Boston Tabernacle. The speaker was Richard L. Swain, D. D., who has abandoned his own pulpit to bring to Christian churches the message he believes he has had a call to deliver.

The series opened on Sunday evening, with about three hundred present, and the meetings following have been well attended. Dr. Swain opened with the statement of a few broad propositions, such as Christianity can come into its own only through the Christian church. Weak as it is sometimes considered to be, there are more professed Christians than ever before,—men and women intelligent and consecrated. But at the same time it is true there are more than ever before that are intelligent without religion and others religious without intelligence. It is because of this that there are such absurd notions about God on the one hand and the real attitude of the Christian church of to-day towards the discoveries of science.

The subject of Sunday evenings lecture was "The Honest Atheist." Dr. Swain was in a sense that man and he told the story of his own religious life by way of illustration and how out of a state of almost blank despair, he fought his way to a faith in the loving care of God as clear and sharply defined that he had experienced as a child.

Monday evening Dr. Swain discussed "What is God; who is He; where is He; what does He do? If the ancients made their Gods how do we know we are not making our God? May we not be communing with an idea?" Dr. Swain does not believe that God is a visible being that we shall see some day. Neither does he believe he is spread out over all the universe. Rather he is a loving, intelligent will, living within every human being. There is only one God and this is the spirit dwelling within us that inspires us to loving deeds and kindly acts, bearing malice toward no one. We cannot make our Gods as the ancients did, because we have become too intelligent to tolerate superstition. Science has, in solving many perplexing questions, made gigantic strides and is now working in harmony with theology in working out the central truth that God is a loving, intelligent will.

On Tuesday evening the speaker answered his question, "Does man have a soul?" with an emphatic and decidedly startling No! Then tension relaxed when he said, "He is a Soul!" Contained in a body composed of nature's elements, having its abiding place in a world prepared through eons of time as the school of development for God's family—the human race—that soul has reached out for a larger exercise of itself until hands knew their cunning, feet learned to take the wider stride, eyes to see the larger horizon and ears to catch the divine harmonies. By these processes he expands to nearest possible approach of one created a little lower than the angels. The world itself is proof that God created it for his children—his family, the human race; that he placed us here to discover the world's deepest secrets, and is more pleased than the discoverer when some new truth is unearthed by patient research. It is this human race that will build in its own appointed palace, its own Kingdom of Heaven in the Kingdom of God. This is the only religion there really is.

The attendance on Wednesday evening was larger than at any of the previous meetings and the interest was so keen that the audience was held for fully two hours while Dr. Swain explained perplexing questions that brought light and inspiration to many. His answer to the first question of the evening: "Was Jesus God or a good man only?" was short and emphatic. Dr. Swain said: "It takes God and self to make a man, therefore there is no such thing as a merely good man." Modern psychology has so changed our ideas in regard to the deity of Jesus that we can no longer hold the old-time thought of Him. Discoveries in science have brought to us a clearer conception of God, his wonderful world and his family on the earth. God alone has a body; for all nature, whether physical or material, is what God is feeling and thinking. The speaker drew a beautiful picture of what Arlington would be if all its inhabitants were feeling an ever-present God within them. He also touched upon the Unitarian and Trinitarian beliefs, that provoked some discussion.

Arlington Associated Charities.

The Associated Charities of Arlington has completed its first year of work, and, for the benefit of those who may not understand the reason for its existence, the president, Mrs. John H. Hardy, explains as follows:—"We act simply as a clearing-house. Our membership consists of the usual officers, a representative from each society which has become affiliated with us, a representative from the overseers of the poor, and visitors representing the four sections of the town.

The president and secretary each keep a card catalogue showing all cases dealt with, and by whom; every case is visited and reported immediately, then passed on to the proper source for assistance. Mr. Robinson, our town clerk, has given us valuable aid and co-operation in this respect. Our calls have come from various sources,—ministers, doctors, district nurses, truant officers, social service workers and presidents of clubs for charitable work, not only in our own town, but Cambridge and Boston as well. Many ask for names of worthy people to whom they may send dinners at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and we greatly appreciate a voluntary offering from a stranger who had heard of work done through the Association. We do not attempt to raise money, but assure you of careful expenditure of any received in this manner. Clothing sent to the president will be distributed to the best advantage.

We thank all who in any way have helped to make the Association successful during the past year."

Brief News Items.

Transportation costs are a large item in the increased cost of living, according to official reports at Washington.

Gen. Pershing and his forces are coming back to United States. The pertinent question is, why was that force sent into Mexico.

The withdrawal of U. S. troops from Mexican territory was begun on Jan. 22. A great number of motor trucks are in use transporting supplies.

There has been a growing shortage of potatoes for five years. The yield last fall was forty-five per cent below the average of four preceding years.

The new station of Boston Elevated at Egleston square was opened on Jan. 23. It demonstrated that it will relieve the complained of congestion at Dudley street.

Gov. McCall has requested the Legislature to make an appropriation to help meet the expense of the National G. A. R. Encampment to be held in Boston in August.

Post 68 of Dorchester had the pleasure of burning the mortgage on their G. A. R. building at the meeting on Jan. 23. It was a jolly time in which city officials joined with comrades.

Reports received last Saturday at headquarters showed $94,822.89 had been collected toward the $150,000 endowment fund needed for the Frances E. Willard Settlement. The campaign closes Jan. 27. The 225 canvassers have been busy all this week.

For the first time in the history of the United States a foreign consul-general, Franz Bopp, one of the three consuls-general of Germany in this country, was sentenced on Monday to prison and payment of a fine of violation of American neutrality.

Lewis Parkhurst, of Winchester, again was elected president of the Republican Club of Massachusetts at the annual meeting held on Jan. 22, in Gilbert Hall, Tremont Temple. In its report, the executive committee pointed to the membership—2506—as larger than that of any working Republican Club in the country.

In response to letters from Governor McCall to the governors of various states inviting them to name representatives to the fourteenth annual convention of the American Road Builders' Association and the seventh annual Good Roads Congress to be held in Boston the week of Feb. 5, a number of replies have already been received.

This week Congress was notified formally by President Wilson of the exchange of ratifications of the Danish West Indies purchase treaty, and was asked to provide, at the present session, the $25,000,000 the United States has agreed to pay for the islands. The revenue bill now being framed in the House will authorize a bond issue to furnish the money.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS LOCALS

—The Singers' club is preparing for a concert to be given the early part of February when out of town talent will assist.

—The K. P. G. club held one of its pleasant card parties Monday evening, this time the host and hostess being Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Patterson, who entertained at their home on Appleton street. The next meeting of the club will be with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Byram.

—Rev. John M. Phillips of Park Avenue Cong'l church, exchanged pulpits on last Sunday morning with Rev. C. W. Collier, minister of the Hancock Cong'l church of Lexington. Mr. Collier remained to take charge of the Men's class at the close of the morning service.

—The Men's club at St. James' church, has chosen these officers:—

James E. Doughty, president; Joseph L. Dwyer, vice-president; Richard Healy, treasurer; Urban Estey, recording secretary; William Furdon, financial secretary; Thomas F. Kenney, Dr. Dean and Daniel B. Tierney, executive committee.

—Miss Alice Homer opened a series of four class assemblies in Crescent Hall, on Jan. 19th, with some twenty couples present. Music was furnished by Miss Dorothy Munch pianist, and Bruce Clark drummer. The class will meet every other Friday evening in Crescent Hall.

—The Friday Social club holds one of its socials this Friday evening in Park Avenue Cong'l church vestry. The evening is in charge of Mrs. Clarence Johnson and Miss Susanna Haskell and will be an "Athletic Meet." This sounds interesting and the committee assures those who attend an evening of fun.

—The Civic League will hold an open meeting at Crescent Hall, this (Friday Jan. 26) evening, at 8 o'clock, which will be addressed by H. B. Greene, Deputy Income Tax Assessor, on the subject of the "Massachusetts Income Tax Law." Come prepared to ask questions and have all obscure points of the law cleared up.

—The Sunday evening service at Park Avenue Cong'l church, on the coming Sunday, will be conducted entirely by the Nichols' class. Music will be by men of the class, with an address by Rev. George A. Crawford, D. D., retired chaplain in the U. S. Navy. His subject will be, "Why does not God forgive everybody?" The service is at seven o'clock and all interested will be cordially welcome.

—The funeral of Mrs. Maria Wennerberg, wife of the late Hans P. Wennerberg, took place from her late residence, 37 Harvard street, Monday morning. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. James' church, the pastor, Rev. David R. Heffernan, being celebrant; Rev. Conrad J. Quirbach, deacon and Rev. Henry Wennerberg, S. J., son of the deceased, sub-deacon. During the mass Rev. R. Keating, S. J., and Rev. Julian Johnstone, S. J., sat within the chancel rail. The music for the mass was under the direction of Miss Isabella G. Woods. Interment was in Brookline.

—The Friday Social club will hold its annual "Gentlemen's Night" on the evening of February 23d. At present the club is interested in earning money to go toward the Park Avenue Cong'l church building fund. Already the club has in its treasury $450 and it is in hopes of adding at least $200 to this sum through a series of entertainments being planned. The club has been divided into five sections of nineteen members each and a leader for each section. Each of these sections will plan a scheme for raising its share, fifty dollars being the minimum asked for from each section. The leaders are Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. Bert S. Currier, Mrs. J. Herbert Mead, Mrs. Jack Martin, Mrs. Wm. Halsey, Mrs. Clark's group met at her home Thursday of this week to formulate plans. The group of which Mrs. Martin is the leader, has planned for an afternoon tea and musicale to be given Feb. 2nd.

—Dr. Barbara Ring opened her home, known as the "White House," Monday afternoon of this week, to members of the Study club and its friends, for a bridge party to raise funds to go toward the sum already given by the club for the Ann Hutchinson statue, the work of Cyrus E. Dallin. Something like fifty tickets were disposed of and while all were not represented on that afternoon, there was a large company who participated in what proved a social affair. Mrs. H. H. Stinson had the afternoon in charge and was assisted by Mrs. Walter Vaughn, in charge of the tickets and Mrs. C. C. Stover of the tea which was served at the close of the afternoon. Five souvenirs were given, among them being a photograph showing the sculptor working on the statue of Ann Hutchinson, which was appropriately framed and had been given by Mrs. Dallin. Mrs. Edward Battey was the fortunate winner of this choice souvenir, as holding the highest score in the bridge. Mrs. Herbert C. Cathcart was the high scorer in the straight whist game.

—Frank Preston Stearns of Medford, died at the Symmes Hospital in Arlington, Sunday, Jan. 21, of a cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Stearns in years past made Arlington Heights his home at different periods of longer or shorter duration. He has been an invalid for many years. He was the son of the late Maj. George Lindley and Mary E. (Preston) Stearns of Medford and was born in that city Jan. 4, 1846. During the Civil War period he was associated with his father in recruiting the 54th and 55th Massachusetts (colored) regiments at Buffalo, N. Y. Later he was with his father in recruiting at Philadelphia and Fortress Monroe. Mr. Stearns was graduated from Harvard with the class of '67. He was one of the founders of the Harvard Advocate and a member of the Dickey and Hasty Pudding clubs. After graduation he continued his studies of literature and art in Germany and Italy, and had written on art and literature and was author of the "Life of Bismarck," "Life of Hawthorne," "Cambridge Sketches," "Mid-Summer of Italian Art" and many other works. He was a member of the Boston Authors' club and the Authors' club of London. Mr. Stearns leaves a wife, a son, George L., and a brother, Henry L. Stearns.

—Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Crocker announce the engagement of their daughter, Mildred, to Mr. Carl Sargent Spofford of Waltham.

—The study club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Herbert Snow of Claremont avenue. The program was in charge of Mrs. D. B. Stevens and the subject "Fiction, Industrial and Social Conditions. Character Studies." A list of books were selected from which to draw the study of the afternoon and were the following, together with the ladies mentioned who took up the character studies in the books assigned to them. Mrs. Stevens discussed Howell's "Silas Lapham"; James' "Daisy Miller"; Tarkington's "The Turmoil"; Jewett's "The Country of the Pointed Firs"; and the "House of Mirth" by Wharton; Mrs. J. Herbert Mead, "Sister Carrie" by Dreiser; Mrs. Henrietta Alden, "The Octopus" by Norris; and "The Pit" by the same author; Mrs. Frank Ewart, "The Harbor" by Poole. Discussion followed which made an afternoon of unusual interest. The usual tea was served by the hospitality committee.

EAST LEXINGTON LOCALS.

The monthly supper of the Men's club has been postponed a week. It will occur next Monday evening.

The annual dramatics of the Lexington Old Belfry Club, Monday and Tuesday evenings, attracted a number from this village.

An all-day sewing meeting is planned by the members of the Follen Alliance in the vestry of the Follen church, Thursday, Feb. 8, at 10 o'clock.

The meeting of the Follen Alliance held in the vestry of the Follen church, on the afternoon of Jan. 25, will be reported in next week's issue.

Under direction of the Village Clock Committee, a dance, to raise additional funds for the clock, will be held in Village Hall, this (Friday) evening.

Next Monday evening the East Lexington Men's Club, will hold their monthly meeting at Follen church vestry. Supper will be served at 7 p. m. The speaker for the evening will be Captain S. E. Brown of Waltham. He will give an illustrated lecture on "The Mexican Situation; my Experiences at the Border." While it is true we couldn't all go to the front when the call was made, at least we ought to know what experiences our boys went through. Do not miss this fine opportunity to hear an intimate talk on the subject.

Next Sunday morning at Follen church, East Lexington, Rev. John Nicol Mark will preach on the topic "Ye are God's Sanctuary." Those who are interested in theory of evolution and in what is has contributed to our religious beliefs, should make a special effort to attend this service. "Know Thyself!" was the wise injunction of the sage. Sunday school at noon, Miss Gertrude Pierce, superintendent. The Guild will hold an evening service at 7 p. m. The speaker will be Mrs. H. M. Page of East Lexington. She will talk on "Armenia and the Armenians." Come to both of these services.

The Guild, of the Follen church, together with the Alliance, gave a most successful evening to their friends on Friday of last week in the church, for the benefit of the same. The Alliance had charge of a cafeteria supper from six until seven-thirty, under the direction of Mrs. Harrie Lee. The dramatic was presented by the East Lexington Dramatic club, with Rev. Mr. Mark, the president, coaching, and the players did great credit to him. The play was entitled "Freezing a Mother-in-law." The plot was full of ludicrous situations and as presented created a good deal of fun and laughter. Every member of the cast was well chosen and gave a worthy presentation of his or her part. The cast:—

Mr. Watnuff, John M. Mark.
Mrs. Watnuff, Mrs. Charles Spaulding.
Walter Litherland, in love with Emily, Earle Hadley.

The funeral of Miss Florence Livingston Lent, who died at the Forest Hills hospital, Jan. 17th, took place Friday afternoon, January 19, from Waterman's chapel, Boston. The services were conducted by Rev. John G. Taylor, of Arlington, former pastor of the Park Avenue Cong'l church of Arlington Heights. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery, Arlington. Miss Lent was born in Buffalo, N. Y., forty-four years ago, and was the daughter of the late James and Anna (Hull) Lent. She was educated in the schools of Buffalo and later in a private school in Boston. She was interested in charity work and for several years was prominently identified with the work of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, being at the time of her death a member of the ways and means committee. She wrote the words of a number of songs sung by the association. For several years she lived in East Lexington, making her home with her brother, Howard B. Lent, of Mass. avenue. Last summer Miss Lent underwent an operation and complications set in, causing her death.

Fiftieth Anniversary.

With officials of Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Massachusetts present as guests, Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter of Masons celebrated the 50th anniversary of the chartering of the chapter, last Monday evening, with exercises in Masonic Hall, Arlington.

William H. Halsey, Excellent High Priest and chairman of the committee in charge, presided and introduced the speakers. The features of the evening were a reception in honor of the visiting high officials, historical address by Past High Priest R. Walter Hilliard, roll call of the members, vocal selections by the Weber Quartet, addresses by the Grand Royal Arch Chapter officers and a collation.

The chapter was honored by the presence of dignitaries from the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Massachusetts who were received and welcomed by the High Priest of the Chapter. The guests included:—

Waterman S. C. Russell, Deputy Grand High Priest; Augustus Ridgeway, of Brookline, Grand Scribe; J. Gilman Waite, of Medford, Grand Secretary; Dr. Charles E. Prior, of Malden, D. D. Grand High Priest of the Eighth district; Robert W. Oliver, of Charlestown, D. D. Grand High Priest of the Fifteenth district; Lorenzo L. Green, of Medford, Grand Lecturer; Olin D. Dickerman, of Abington, Grand C. O. H.; Curtis Chipman, of Newton, Grand P. S.; Thomas Jackson, of Bedford, Grand R. A. C.; and past and present officers from Chapters in the Eighth Capital district.

In the absence of Arthur D. Prince of Lowell, the Grand High Priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Massachusetts, who was unable to attend, Deputy Grand High Priest Waterman S. C. Russell, of Springfield, represented the high official.

Past High Priest William H. Pattee, the only living petitioner and charter member, was the oldest member to answer the roll call that evening, and Geo. E. Stokes, who became a member last Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, was the newest member to respond to the call. There are now 253 members in the chapter. The chapter was constituted June 12, 1866, and chartered Jan. 21, 1867.

The address of Mr. Hilliard was full of suggestions, going back as it did to the day of small things fifty years ago, but in the main it had to do with details with which the general public has no concern. The history of Masonry in this section joins in the most intimate and fraternal relations the towns of Arlington and Lexington, for it was in the latter town that Hiram Lodge F. and A. M. was instituted in 1797, and did not have its home in Arlington until 1844. Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter that celebrated its golden anniversary this week, was in a sense the child of Hiram lodge, and like the sire was composed of residents of both towns. The following list of charter members will be perused with interest by our elderly readers, for it will bring to mind many who in years past were influential in the affairs of Lexington and Arlington:—

Arlington members.—James Durgin, John A. Pattee, Warren E. Russell, John C. Bladell, William H. Guild, Horace H. Homer, James Boston, George H. Lancaster, Richard R. Wyllie, Charles H. Hallett, Ralph W. Shattuck, Joseph S. Potter, William A. Clark, James Thaxter, Charles C. Sawyer, Benjamin F. Swan, Henry J. Bacon, Milan R. Hardy, J. Winslow Peirce, W. H. Whittemore, Edward Storor, Andrew F. Allen, Maurice O'Connell, William H. Pattee, Lewis Spaulding, William Proctor, George D. Tufts, Henry B. Goodenough.

Lexington members.—Frank V. Butters, Augustus E. Scott, Charles C. Goodwin, Geo. O. Davis, Horace B. Davis, Richard D. Blinn, Josiah Bryant.

The roll call brought response from the largest number of members ever assembled and the veterans, in fact all, were heartily applauded. William H. Pattee, the only living petitioner and charter member, Senior Past High Priest of the Chapter, was given an ovation, and voiced his thanks in very happy speech. Mr. Pattee received the degrees in free masonry in Hiram Lodge in 1854.

Speeches, congratulatory, reminiscent, witty and humorous were made by Waterman S. C. Russell, J. Gilman Waite, Dr. Charles E. Prior and Rev. W. Henry Lanning. A beautiful souvenir program disclosed extracts from the early records of the chapter, and an illuminated calendar, designed and executed by Nathan C. Lombard.—Oppressed in its delineation, will serve to remind members of "meetin' time." A pleasant feature was the gathering of many members who had not met for years, some coming from distant points. The committee in charge consisted of:—William H. Halsey, R. Walter Hilliard, Henry H. Austin, William M. Stewart, Andrew Bain, Charles E. Cooke, Edward N. Lacey, Frederic A. Horter, Lewis F. Brown, Nathan C. Lombard, Floyd S. Davis.

Arlington Evening School.

The Arlington evening school, which opened in October at the Junior High school building, is continuing each week on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, with a fairly good average attendance. The school has eighty registered pupils, who paid their entrance fee of one dollar, with an average attendance of forty. The earnestness of the pupils who attend is most gratifying to Superintendent and Mr. H. E. Jackson, the latter the principal of the school. The pupils are of all ages, ranging from forty years to boys and girls in their teens. Some of the latter are attendants of the regular school, but come in the evenings for further instructions.

Miss Dorothy E. Connor is head of the non-English speaking class, assisted by Jeremiah Crowley, and has a class of between twelve and fifteen. Leo Kelley has the grammar work and has a class of about the same number; Mrs. Bessie R. Clerk takes the book-keeping pupils; Miss Reynolds the penmanship and Mr. Arthur E. Robinson the mechanical drawing. Miss Ethel F. Littlefield has French and Spanish. The Civil Service class has been discontinued and the classes under Miss Littlefield are likely to close soon, but the school will probably continue until the twenty-second of February.

Theatre Notes.

Interest in "Little Women" began with the first announcement of its coming to the Castle Square, and the news that it was at last to be given in Boston at popular prices. The advance sale of seats, both by telephone calls and personal application at the box office window, has been continuous, and it will therefore remain on the Castle Square stage for a second week, beginning on next Monday evening. "Little Women" is known the world over wherever good stories are enjoyed. It presents a perfect picture of girlhood. The cast seen here during this Castle Square engagement is identical with that which acted the play during its recent holiday run at the Park Theatre in New York city. Boston theatre-goers and Castle Square patrons are glad to note that Miss Henrietta McDaniel, who has been a favorite ever since her appearance here as Peter in "The End of the Bridge," is seen as Beth.

Worth Knowing

The water with which pie crust is mixed should be iced.

Gelatin should always be first soaked in cold water.

To prepare a tub of bluing water have the water cool and stir while you add the bluing.

All cottons and linens in the weekly wash should be thoroughly soaped before rubbing.

If the baby is inclined to be nervous do not bathe it in the tub, but give it a sponge bath on your lap.

When washing flannels be sure that the soap is thoroughly dissolved or it will stick and the flannels be patchy when dry.

A small lump of butter in cake icing tends to keep it soft so that it will not crack off the cake in cutting. If the frosting is hard dip the sharp knife with which you are cutting into warm water as you cut each slice.

In freezing weather if the clothesline and clothespins have been soaked in salt water the clothes will not stick to the line or the pins to the clothes, thereby saving tearing the clothes when removing them from the line.

If you have a marble topped table that is an heirloom and it is stained in any way try rubbing it well with a cut lemon, then with salt. This will cure a great many of the blemishes on marble and leave a gloss.

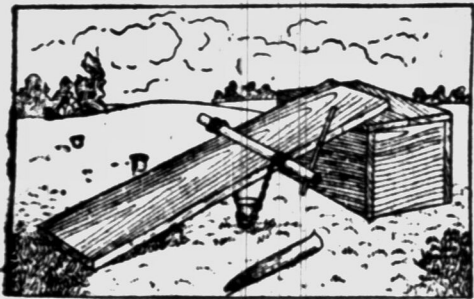

Signs of Tuberculosis

"Persons dying of tuberculosis this winter received their infection ten or possibly twenty years previous," says Dr. I. J. Murphy of the Minnesota Public Health association.

The insidious nature of the disease and the fact that it often lies dormant from childhood make it particularly urgent that people be on the watch for the early symptoms of this disease, adds the doctor. The following symptoms should be observed by everybody and regarded with suspicion: A succession of colds without the ability to overcome them; persistent loss of weight without any easily explained cause; a general feeling of tiredness, not caused by abnormal or unusual exertion; fever late in the afternoon; spitting of blood; persistent cough extending over a period of one month, especially if not preceded by a cold in head or sore throat; night sweats; digestive disturbances, especially when accompanied by any of the foregoing.

Vertical Pull Windlass

Withdrawing of posts or small stumps from the ground may be accomplished readily by the use of the device shown in the sketch, says Popular Mechanics. It consists of a box or other support for a strong plank, on which a roller provided with a chain operates. The chain is attached to the roller at each edge of the plank so that when pressure is applied on the handle, tending to roll the roller up the incline, the chain winds up and exerts a powerful pull on the stump or other object to be withdrawn. The slant of the plank aids in the action, since it causes the chain to wind up rather than the roller to move up on the incline.

Light as Chaff

Knew His Man.

Judge John W. Spencer of the supreme court of Indiana is credited with being the author of the following story of Evansville politics: Two huge colored men lived in a precinct at Evansville during a campaign in which a certain politician ran for mayor.

"Who are you for anyhow?" asked one of them one morning when he met the other. "How's you going to vote in the election?"

"Why, I'm for Blank, that's who I'm for, and you already knowed it. Why'd you ask me that question?"

"Yes, you's for Blank. I knows who you's for, all right. You's for Sale, that's who you's for."

Dutiful Sons.

Private McSwashletock had given twenty-one years' service for king and country, but meeting his late colonel one day he could rejoin if he could rejoin the army.

"I'm sorry, McSwashletock," said the colonel, "but you're too old now. Have you any sons?"

"I've three," replied McSwashletock, "and all are in the army, sir."

"That's good! Have they been well behaved?"

"I'd be telling lies if I said anything else," said the father proudly. "The truth is, sir, I have never had to lift a hand to one of them all their lives, unless in self defense! Oh, they've been wonderful good boys!"

CHINESE DOCTORS.

Their Weird Ideas About Disease and Its Remedies.

PUNCH HOLES IN PATIENTS.

To Perform This Operation They Use Eight Different Styles of Needles, Some Two Feet Long, and the Bigger the Punch the Greater the Doctor.

The bigger the needle with which a Chinese doctor punctures his patient the higher the charge, for the bigger the needle the more distinguished is the physician. If the doctor wears a straw hat, that signifies he is a prosperous doctor and his charge is a little more. If he comes in a sedan, the patient must pay for the chair.

Dr. Franz Otto Koch, writing in the Popular Science Monthly, gives a description of the Chinese physician and how he practices.

"The native Chinese doctor is a curiosity," writes Dr. Koch. "He passes no examination; he requires no qualifications; he may have failed in business and set up as a physician. In his new profession he requires little stock in trade, medical instruments being almost unknown.

"Acupuncture, as it is called, is one of the nine branches recognized in medical science among the Chinese. It is of most ancient origin, having been in use from time immemorial. There are 537 markings to be learned. Every square inch on the human surface has its own name, and some relation to the internal parts, purely imaginary, is assigned to it. The user is cautioned against wounding the arteries; hence he must know the position of the blood vessels. By close study of a manikin pierced with holes the Chinese physician learns where to drive his needles. Parts of the body are selected which may be pierced without fatal results. Sometimes heat is applied to the outer end of the needle, and this is called a hot acupuncture, but the needle is never heated before insertion.

"The needle used looks very much like a sewing machine needle, but it is longer and coarser. Some of the Chinese doctors have needles two feet long and are supposed by ardent admirers to be able to drive these instruments entirely through the patient's body. The great size of the needles is in reality intended to represent the greatness of the owner's skill and reputation. The needles used are of eight forms, as follows: The arrowhead, blunt puncturing, spear pointed, fusiform, round, capillary, long and thick. The point of insertion, the depth and direction are all important. The method is usually to drive the needle through the distended skin by a blow from a light mallet.

"If he can get an old book of prescriptions from a retiring practitioner so much the better for the Chinese doctor. He is now equipped to kill or cure, as chance or his ignorance may dictate. The doctor most entitled to confidence in the sight of his countrymen is the man whose father has been a doctor before him. Confidence in him knows no bounds should his grandfather have followed the same calling. This is not mere fatuous belief in heredity, but is based on the supposed value of old prescription books passed on from grandfather to grandson.

"Fees vary according to the physician's social class and that of his patients and also according to the physician's place of residence. The enormous sum of perhaps 15 American cents or half a dollar at the most may be charged for a visit if the doctor comes in a sedan chair. Of this amount a large proportion goes for the chair. Should the doctor belong to the humbler ranks and come on foot his fee is proportionately less. He assumes a solemn air and owl-like look as he peers out of the semidarkness of a Chinese bedroom through great goggle shaped glasses—two inches across and set in huge uncouth copper frame.

"Most important in diagnosing a case, according to Chinese ideas, is the feeling of the different pulses of the human system. The pulse at each wrist is felt. By thus feeling the pulses the states of a dozen real or imaginary organs are determined. Having thus learned by the pressure at these pulses the seat of the disease, a few questions may be asked, but these are considered scarcely necessary. A prescription sometimes calling for the most horrible and nauseating compounds is prepared in large doses, for the native believes that the larger the dose the more likely it is to prove efficacious. In prescribing for natives the foreign doctors have to give the strictest injunctions that the paper box in which the pills contained is not to be swallowed.

"The manner in which the Chinese treat their physicians is characteristic. Should a speedy cure not result from the doctor's treatment the patient calls in another. If he does not improve he calls in a third. Thus the medical skill of the whole neighborhood may be drawn upon."

In the absence of her husband the fascinating young married woman went boating with an old admirer.

"Ah," sighed the old admirer, "if only you had married me instead of Wilkinson."

"Then I should have been with Mr. Wilkinson at this moment instead of you," said the fascinating woman. "How strangely things turn out!"—New York Times.

Hartzell to Play in Toledo.

Roger Bresnahan, manager of the Toledo (O.) American Association Baseball club, has signed Roy Hartzell, former captain of the New York Americans, to play third base for Toledo. Hartzell now is in Denver. He was declared a free agent last fall by the New York club, having served ten years on the team. Bresnahan said his object in signing Hartzell was to have an experienced man at the third corner.

Open Your Heart Today.

Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead, but fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving and cheering words while their ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled and made happier by them.

The kind things you will say after they are gone, say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, bestow now, and so brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them.

If my friends have alabaster boxes laid away, full of fragrant perfumes of sympathy and affection, which they intend to break over my dead body, I would rather they would bring them now in my weary and troubled hours and open them, that I may be refreshed and cheered, while I need them and can enjoy them.

I would rather have a plain coffin without a flower and a funeral without a eulogy than a life without the sweetness of love and sympathy. Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for their burial.

Postmortem kindness cannot cheer the burdened spirit. Flowers on the coffin shed no fragrance backward over the weary way by which the loved ones have traveled.—Selected.

A Man's Best Armor.

In all intercourse no armor is so becoming and so protective as a gentlemanly demeanor, and when we think, how intimate, diversified, unavoidable, indispensable, how daily and hourly are our relations with our fellow men, we cannot but become aware how much it concerns us, for our pleasure and our profit and for a deeper satisfaction, to be affable and gentlemanly, and arm ourselves with a bearing that shall be the expression of self respect, purified by respect for others.—George Henry Calvert.

Value of Punctuality

Business and industry in this country have been reduced to a system that compels the admiration of the world, yet it is doubtful if the great masses of the people have learned in a practical way the value that should be placed on punctuality.

True, employers insist that their employees be on time at their work, but many of these same employers will fall by half an hour to keep an appointment and undertake to offer excuses for their failure. A note at the bank compels promptness because of the consequences that may follow neglect to give it attention, but the loss to others by lack of punctuality may be of a serious character.

The failure of so many people in being prompt in all their relations to others probably lies in the fact that they magnify the lack of punctuality in others and minimize it in themselves, thereby making way for a laxness that becomes a harmful habit to all whom it affects.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Overcoming Difficulties.

Tell me the name of one man who has really made good without hardships, struggles and suffering. Any time you make up your mind that there is no use in further trying and that you will wait for some opportunity to come along, call out the reserves and have the whole force club you into action. If you have any idea that you can make a success sitting down, while men of mental energy and great physical strength are working for all they are worth, you have one more guess coming. If you are not ready and willing to fight, and fight hard, you are in the middle of the stream, near the falls. It's all easy with you now, and will be—until you strike the rocks.—Silent Partner.

Worth Remembering.

Let us always remember that hope in us kindles hope in others, that smiles beget smiles, that trust creates trust, that goodness awakens goodness, that love awakens love and that in unison but sure ways integrity, strength and honor in us plant seeds of honor, strength and integrity in numberless other lives, many of whom we may know nothing of.—J. T. Sutherland.

The Time Killer.

The idler, the lounge, the loafer—who respects him? He isn't decent company even for himself. The world has no use for him. He is marketable only to the devil, and the evil one makes him work long hours and overtime.—J. M. Studebaker.

COST OF LIVING.

If It Is "High," Is It the Fault of the Woman?

PLEA FOR BUSINESS SYSTEM.

Instead of Cheerfully Paying For Unwarranted Raises in Food Necessaries, Why Not Ask Your Dealer For the Reason?

Woman is blamed for everything, sooner or later. Starting with that affair of the apple and through all the intermediate ages, the charge that "she did it" pops up every little while.

Among the many accusations brought against the twentieth century woman is her responsibility for the high cost of living. Yes, really!

No one has actually come out and accused her of boosting prices, but the stern, practical minded investigators say that the increase is due largely to her easy going way of saying "All right" instead of "Why?" when her butcher or grocer or dry goods dealer tells her that his particular commodity has gone up in price.

Ever since prices commenced to increase efficiency experts and farseeing economists have been scolding away at woman because of her lack of interest in the matter in a broad sense and her inertia about adopting preventive measures. They claim that just so long as woman shops in her present careless fashion, taking the dealer's word about the weight, quality and value of her purchase, so long will she be exploited by the unscrupulous.

For instance, if a woman would make it her business to know the legal weight of all dry measures, she would not stop at thinking that the last bushel of potatoes she bought looked light. She would know the exact weight, according to accurate scales, and would let the dealer know she knows. She would not be content with making the outrageous number of clinkers in her last ton of coal the subject of tea talk with her neighbor. She would have her coal dealer on the mat and remind him that she had paid him for coal to be burned, not for stones to clog her grate and choke her fires.

She would read the labels on all packaged goods, know exactly how many pounds or ounces each package contained and consider whether she would gain or lose in quality and quantity by purchasing the same goods in bulk. In short, she would be on the job and would run her marketing on a business basis, and her concerted action would put a stop to the, in many cases, unwarranted increase in price of the necessities of life.

There remains, however, just enough truth in the accusation to make her sit up and take notice and own to herself that a better knowledge of market quotations, a little more business-like attention to the details of purchasing on her part might make things easier all around. The idea is worth considering, anyway.

CHILDREN'S TOYS.

Lessons Learned in Play Leave an Everlasting Impression Upon Character.

A child's play is really its most important business, for in it the exercise necessary for the growing body is obtained, and at the same time lessons are learned which leave an everlasting impress on the character. For this reason it seems almost incomprehensible that any mother should be satisfied to provide her children with toys that vitiate its good taste or by a too complete mechanism deprive their own of the joy of achievement, the necessity of using his or her quick wittedness or imagination.

There is no need to give a baby one of those repulsively ugly rag dolls with staring eyes and distorted features when there are lovely, cuddly bunny rabbits with bright colored coats and dear, soft little doggies which can be held in their little master's arms as he goes off to the by-by land, and these pretty toys will be cultivating his sense of proportion and artistic truth and at the same time giving him a soft corner in his heart for his four footed neighbors.

From Japan comes a very complete set of doll's furniture which would delight any small homemaker. It is cut out of a solid block of Wang Yang wood and can be reassembled into a block again by the use of a little patience and ingenuity, a fact that makes it a most instructive toy, carrying out the Montessori game of solids in a more advanced and more interesting form.

Another fascinating toy which would bring joy to any little boy and to a good many girls is a carpenter's blue apron with a wide pocket, in which there is a very complete set of diminutive tools, and for the more domesticated wee lady there is a doll's dress-making outfit put up in an attractive box.

With toys such as these, not to mention the better known games in which many can take part, a child can at a very small cost be taught to educate itself unconsciously, learning lessons that are of far greater value for after life than many of those given in the classroom.

To Clean Feather Pillows.

Feathers that have lain for any length of time in pillows should be washed. To do the work in the best possible manner open one corner of the pillow and pour boiling water in upon the feathers. This makes them a wet mass, and they are much more easily handled. Remove them and then wash them thoroughly with soap and water, being careful to rinse them in several waters. Then put them back into the washed cover and hang in the sun where they will dry and be light and fluffy. In this way none of the feathers are lost.

Turn into a buttered dish, pour one cupful of cold milk over the top and bake about one hour.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Sleepy Time Story About a Greek Girl.

MYSTERY OF A QUEER VASE.

What Happened When a Curious Little Person Lifted the Lid—Many Woes Came Out to Sadden the People of the World—An Odd Garder In Germany.

Tonight, said Uncle Ben, to little Ned and Polly Ann, I am going to tell you a story that has come down from antiquity. It is about

A PEEPING GIRL.

Curiosity is wanting to know about things that don't concern you. It nearly always gets folks into trouble.

There was Pandora. I think I shall have to tell you about her.

Pandora was a lovely young Grecian girl. She had everything that heart could wish for when she was born. The gods who lived in their beautiful place on Mount Olympus had each given her a splendid birthday present. She received beauty from one, health from another, talent from another, and so on.

There was one old god, though, who thought he would play a joke on the others. So he waited until the other gods had all given their gifts, and then he gave Pandora the gift of curiosity.

Though Pandora as she grew up was found to be given to poking her pretty little nose into things that didn't concern her and asking so many questions that her guardian, old Epimetheus, was often greatly put out, she was such a charming girl and so clever that he overlooked this little fault.

Now, little faults sometimes, make as great trouble as great big naughtinesses, and in Pandora's case this turned out to be especially true.

Old Epimetheus had stored away in a safe place in his house a very costly vase. The vase was always covered and in a place where no one was allowed to go.

Pandora often wondered about the vase, and she asked Epimetheus so many questions about it that he thought it wise to lecture her every now and then about staying out of the room in which the vase was kept.

The more he warned her not to go near it the more curious she became about the vase.

"I don't see how one little peep could hurt it or me," she said to herself.

So one day when Epimetheus was away from home Pandora crept into the room.

Pandora crept behind the curtain. There stood the vase in the corner covered with a dark cloth. She lifted the cloth and then started as she heard a queer humming and buzzing inside the vase.

Carefully she lifted the lid, but before she could peep in a dark winged thing had darted out and then another and another.

Pandora was so frightened that she did not know what to do. Epimetheus rushed into the room, but the vase was nearly empty. Only one little sprite remained in the bottom of the vase. His name was Hope. Care, Sickness, Poverty and all sorts of evil sprites had flown away to wander about the world ever since, but we still, thanks to Epimetheus, have Hope with us to comfort us when the evil sprites are tormenting us too much.

An Interesting Garden.

One of the most interesting gardens in the world, to children at least, is one in Berlin. The owner of the place has adorned it with statuary that every child would be glad to see, because there he has placed groups of fairies and pixies and all sorts of the queer little people that children love. A notable piece of sculpture in the garden is that depicting Little Red Riding Hood and the wicked wolf. Every child has read that fearsome story and rejoiced that the little girl was saved from the fangs of the cruel beast.

A HOMEMADE FIRELESS.

A Stout Wooden Box, Old Newspapers and Hay the Chief Requisites.

A fireless cooker is almost a necessity in the up to date kitchen, but the expense is a serious consideration with the young housewife. However, a very satisfactory substitute can be made at virtually no cost and will prove an economical means of boiling and stewing.

Get a wooden box with a hinged lid; line it with newspapers or packing paper; then cover the papers with balze or felt. Cover the lid inside in the same manner. Press enough hay firmly into the bottom of the box to form a compact layer six inches deep. Fill the box with hay, pressing it well against the sides, and make nests for the pans or casseroles you intend to use, leaving a partition of hay between them and a space of six inches between the top of the pots and the box lid. To fill this space you make a mat trellis-like cushion of balze and fill it tightly with hay. It must fit the top of the box tightly and be six inches thick. See the contents of the pans are absolutely boiling when put in. If opened during cooking they must be rebolled.

You can make easily any kind of stew, of meat, game or poultry, by cooking it over the fire in the usual way for twenty minutes and when boiling putting it into the hay box, covering it with the cushion, shutting up the lid and leaving it six hours. Lentil, pea or mixed vegetable soups require thirty minutes' boiling on the fire and four hours in the hay box. Boiled meat requires thirty minutes' boiling for a small joint and forty-five for one of five pounds and four to five hours in the hay box. Beefsteak pudding requires an hour's steady boiling on the fire and four to five hours in the hay box; suet pudding the same. Soft vegetables, like potatoes, and cereals, like rice, sago, tapioca, macaroni, require five minutes' boiling and one and a half hours in the box. Haricot beans, lentils, carrots, turnips, require twenty minutes' boiling and three hours in the box. Oatmeal porridge can be cooked fifteen minutes on the fire, then left all night in the box and be given five minutes on the fire before serving at breakfast. Any kind of fruit can be stewed in the hay box. It is best to make a sirup of sugar and water, add cloves, lemon or any flavoring liked, bring to the boil, add the fruit and let it simmer ten minutes; put into the cooker and leave three hours. Small fruit takes less time. Any dish that is to be eaten hot must be brought to the boil after taking it out of the hay box before serving.

Childish Modes.

For the very small girl the short one piece smock over bloomers is a favored play costume and is made up in all the sturdiest stuffs, with touches of smoking, cross stitch, feather stitch or other embroidery or with tiny contrasting binding.

About Pockets.

We are to be "pocketed" the coming season as never before, and who will admit that this fashion feature can fall to please us and inspire in our hearts and minds a very strong and substantial desire for new clothes?

FOR HOME RULE.

Widow of Skeffington, Executed Irish Editor, Is In America.

HERE WITH HER SON, OWEN.

Plans to Write and Lecture In This Country With the Hope of Interesting Us in the Future Freedom of Ireland. Is an Intellectual Type.

Mrs. F. Sheehy Skeffington, widow of the Irish editor who was executed in Dublin on April 23 after the uprising headed by Sir Roger Casement, has come to this country to write and lecture about the conditions which led up to the death of her husband. She is living in New York with her seven-year-old son, Owen.

"I am not willing to tell how I got here," said Mrs. Skeffington. "The British government refused to give me a passport, but I was determined to come to the United States and tell the people about my husband's murder, for that is what it amounted to. I don't know how long I will remain. That will depend upon how my work progresses. "I learned a lot about the art of disguise from the suffragettes, and I resorted to successful disguise in this case. With my boy it was more difficult, but I managed to get him through too. I left Dublin while the police were watching my house.

"Then 'somewhere in Great Britain' I secured a passport and under an assumed name came to this country."

Mrs. Skeffington said there was much that would interest the American people about her husband's death and the causes leading up to it. Skeffington was one of the more conspicuous anti-British propagandists of Ireland and fought against the enlistment of his countrymen under the flag of Great Britain.

Mrs. Skeffington, who is an alert, black haired, smiling woman despite her sorrows, is intellectual in appearance—frail, but tall. She hopes to interest a large number of people in Irish nationalism.

WASHING FLANNELS.

Easy Way to Cleanse Sweaters and "Unders" Without Shrinking Them.

For flannels make a lukewarm suds with some good, pure soap, add a tablespoonful of ammonia for each pail of water, soak flannels in this ten or fifteen minutes, then squeeze them till the dirt is out (do not rub). Wring them through the clothes wringer, rinse in lukewarm water and again put them through wringer. If you have only a few pieces and do not want to bother with the tub and wringer simply lift them from the suds to the rinse water and hang them up out of this to drip dry.

For sweaters, knit or crocheted jackets and the like proceed same as with flannels, but when it comes to wringing them fold each article in some piece of cotton, such as an apron or a piece of an old sheet, and put through the wringer. To dry, if it is sunny, spread a sheet in the sun, place article loosely upon it and cover with another sheet. If it is cloudy they will dry if spread out in a warm room. Do not hang them out.

For Baby's Crib.

Baby's crib is made up with as much care as to details as is given to the bed of the elders. Day slips with the envelope flap are used on the diminutive pillow, and a sheet is generally embroidered and scalloped to match. Another pillowcase that was finished with a perfectly plain hem had a design with cutwork relieving its simplicity. The sheet carried out the same scheme of embroidery.

Cranberry Tarts.

Line the bottom and sides of small tart or cake tins with a good pie crust and bake in a hot oven for seven to ten minutes, until the pastry is done. Have ready cranberries-cooked soft in a sirup of equal parts of sugar and water. Fill the tarts and put back into the oven and bake for five minutes. Allow not more than a teaspoonful of mixture to each tart.

STYLE TIPS.

Latest News From Paris About Skirts and Blouses.

Every cable brings from Paris the news that the skirts of 1917 will be narrow. All those in the watchtowers have proclaimed the coming of this enemy to full skirts since last September, but only in limited segments of society was the news acted upon. The manufacturers had the material for full skirts, the average woman wanted full skirts, the wholesale houses turned them out by the thousands, and it was only left to the exclusive women and their dressmakers to cut down the width and lengthen the hem.

The question which will soon confront every woman is whether she wishes to change the silhouette of her skirt or go on wearing it until it is ready to be discarded. One cheerful feature of the return to the slim silhouette is that a full skirt can be cut into a narrow one with ease.

That garment known as the outside blouse, which is merely a short, twelfth century chemise, has grown quite important and popular since the large shops copied the exclusive French models and placed them within the reach of the average purse.

Women like them. They are more becoming than the white shirt waist, and they do not make demands on one's purse for laundry. They have a thin lining of their own, which is a boon to the woman who has neither the time nor the money to arrange a vast variety of expensive underwear which shows so through the thin blouse.

These outside blouses are worn with skirts that are not of their material or color, so this makes for economy and comfort at once. So far they are in chiffon, embroidered in silk floss or bullion thread, but there are some very smart ones coming in colored satins. The sleeve is half length or long, but the latter should be chosen for every occasion except one's own dinner table. The neck is cut in the renaissance fashion. In fact, the extraordinarily high collar, standing or turned over, has given way to the flat, twelfth century neck line.

This is cut in many ways. The dressmakers do not hold one down to the veritable renaissance. Jenny has taken up the Italian decolletage for the daytime, which is cut in the form of a delta. A new gown which she sends over, which was copied from a Rembrandt portrait and which is of black panne velvet with girdle and arm pieces of black satin, has no ornamentation at the neck line. The velvet is cut to the base of the neck at the back, then out on each side to the armpits and goes in a straight line across the chest below the collarbone.

Early Marriages.

Dr. William Lee Howard is authority for the statement that if a girl marries at eighteen her offspring are apt to be totally unfitted to struggle with the problems of the world. At the age of twenty-one she may give birth to at least one child of high efficiency, but those that were born before or after will be unfit. When parents are too young, the girl under twenty-one and the man under twenty-seven, the offspring are too often delicate, and malformation and idiocy are common among the offspring of too young parents.

A French authority declared that the ideal age for parenthood is thirty-three years in men and twenty-six years in women.

Homemade Sausage.

Put any scraps of unused meat through the meat chopper and grind an equal amount of fat and lean fresh pork to add to it. Mix two tablespoonfuls of cracker crumbs for each cupful of meat, season with salt, pepper and poultry seasoning to taste, bind with an egg, shape into cakes and then fry.

continuing to be a steady growth in our school population during the past ten years. The town report for the year 1906 shows that there were at the close of the year ninety-nine pupils in the High School and seven hundred and forty in the grades. The report of this year will show two hundred and sixty-two members in the High School and nine hundred and sixty-eight in the grades, making a total increase of three hundred and ninety in ten years, or approximately forty-seven per cent. The growth has been most rapid during the latter half of that period and shows no sign of ceasing. The High School and all of the grade rooms from the fifth down are full, and in some cases, badly overcrowded. The building operations of the last few years have done little more than keep pace with the increase. Pupils from the Adams district are already being transferred to the Munroe school for accommodation, and the Hancock building has been incapable of housing all of the children from that district for the last six years. As a result the Munroe School is now using every recreation room in the remodeled building, leaving little margin for future expansion. As a new building cannot possibly be ready for use next September, the town is facing an uncomfortable situation which will quickly become serious unless prompt action is taken. A continuation of the present plan of organization will necessitate the construction of a new grade building in the Hancock district, a High school annex, and a similar annex to the Adams building or an entirely new school at the East Lexington. A large Junior High school centrally located would relieve the whole situation by absorbing the Freshman class of the High school and all of the seventh and eighth grades throughout the town, thus freeing two rooms in each of the present grade schools to take care of future increase in

There are now one temporary and four permanent residents in the Home. An amendment of the by-laws was made allowing voting by proxy. Four new members were elected to the corporation. The treasurer reported that during the past year bequests had been received from Mrs. Lydia A. Patney and Miss Laura M. Brigham. The officers elected were as follows:—

President, F. L. Emery; treasurer, A. E. Locke; clerk, E. M. Mullen; directors, Miss F. M. Robinson, Mrs. C. C. Goodwin, Miss E. E. Harrington, Miss C. W. Harrington, Mrs. C. B. Davis, Mrs. L. S. Brown, Messrs. F. L. Emery, A. E. Locke, R. P. Clapp, E. F. Fobes, F. D. Peirce.

Just-Quite a scare gripped the entire town on Jan. 18, when three alarms were rung in for a fire in the residence of Stanley L. Eldridge, at 23 Eliot road. Of course this called out every available piece of the fire apparatus owned by the town. However, through the efforts of S. P. Sawyer, Albert Boulton and Jas. Curtin, all of North Cambridge, who were delivering coal at the house, and splendid work of the firemen, the fire was confined to the cellar and no great damage resulted. It is thought the fire started from crossed wires over the furnace. It was first discovered by Sawyer, who saw smoke issuing from the cellar window through which the coal was being put. He rushed into the cellar and discovered the blaze. He notified Mrs. Eldridge, who telephoned the fire department. A still alarm was sounded, and until the firemen arrived, the fire, which had spread to a pile of kindling on the cellar floor, was fought with buckets of water by the three coalmen. When Combination B, which responded to the alarm, arrived, the fire was so hot that driver Frank W. McDonald telephoned the fire
